Kidnap Breakfast Planned by P.T.A.

Hi ho for summer! The kids who aren't burned a beautiful golden shade of brown, and freckled to a turn and all look healthy and happy. But I can't speak for their mothers!

Speaking of the children, some of those in the elementary grades are taking advantage of the long summer afternoons to earn certificates for reading. The librarian will be glad to show the child which books are for his or her age group, and one report a week may be made. The report is oral, as the youngster tells the librarian who wrote the book, some of its high spots, and whether or not it was enjoyed. On the completion of five such reports, the certificate is issued.

Vacationing at Beaumont with a fishing trip were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brummell, 21504 Moneta Ave., and their three grandchildren Evelyn, Joe and Jimmy Jones, children of Mr. and Mrs. M. Jones, 433 E. Carson St.

"Opportunity Unlimited" was decided upon as a theme to be used in planning programs for Carson St. P.T.A. at a recent meeting of the program planning committee. Plans were also discussed for a possible kidnap breakfast later in the summer, and Mrs. C. Wittenburg, president, announced a meeting of the executive board will be held in August.

Some organizations may take vacations, but the busy little Cub Scouts never seem to rest.

Scouts of Pack 230, under the guidance of R. Quincy spent the night of July 25-26 in the Palos Verdes hills. These little boys meet every week, and much credit goes to the busy den mothers who plan their activities. Swimming, painting ceramics, and burning the weeds around the Keystone Women's Clubhouse have been among their summer projects.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mantych, 136 W. 220th St., have just returned from a vacation trip to Denver, Colo., where they enjoyed visiting with Mrs. Mantych's mother and sister.

Guest of honor at a stork shower was Mrs. Dale Edwards of 220th St. Table and wall decorations repeated the colorful stork theme of the napkins, as the home of Mrs. L. Mercer, 219 W. 220th St., was made gala for the affair. Many beautiful gifts were gratefully received by Mrs. Edwards, and all guests greatly enjoyed the get-together. Those presenting gifts were Mrs. W. Roller, C. Andrews, Dorothy Edwards, Betty Centers, Nancy Brinlee, Ednah Lockwood, Bessie Peby, Eva Northcutt, Brunwin, Helen Moore, Reeves, Lorraine Eck, Melba Bales, Dorothy Fountain, Kathy Hanawalt, Martha Morris, Nancy Cawhorn, Lia Edwards, Caroline Northcutt, Lowe, Opal Almes and McKelvie.
